Hikvision - Security Cameras VTech Kids & Family Learning Center Dietas Alarm.com Controlling and monitoring a consumer premise equipment (CPE) such as a thermostat, sump pump, etc. is difficult because it is a distributed system. Most CPEs have multiple components and data collected from one or more components may not provide the full picture of the overall system. HMIrse provides a stateful representation of the equipment data structure that allows remote monitoring and control of complex and distributed equipment. Our product includes the HMIrse Node.net software application which is used to retrieve a device's configuration data, and the HMIrse API which is an Application Programming Interface that provides information, status and control of the device's configuration and state.
